Sheriff's Dept. Reports Rash of Breaking & Enterings

County residents, particularly rural residents, are asked to report suspicious vehicles traveling in their areas by the Sheriff's Dept. This request for help is asked in view of a rash of breaking & enterings reported to the Sheriff this past week. "This is the time of year that makes rural homes and cabns more vulnerable," commented County Sheriff Curt Haas, "they're just more accessible."

Seven B&E's, known to have occurred, were reported last week. Four occurred in Grayling Township in the Headquarters Rd. area, one was reported at Camp Grayling, another in Lovelis Township and the last, which happened sometime between last October and now, was reported in Frederic Township.

According to Haas, previous calls to his department have greately assisted in the investigation of previous reported incidents. He urges the public to assist in any way Sheriff Haas indicated that a recent incident that resulted in the arrest of a B&E suspect, represents a prime example of how the public can be of assistance. Nineteen-year old Timothy Brian Boucher of Roscommon is currently lodged in the Crawford County jail, charged in the breaking & entering of a South Branch Township residence. Based on important information provided by a concerned citizen, Boucher was arresed on March 13th for the crime that occurred on the 6th of March. He was arraigned in 83rd District Court and a $1500 cash/surety bond was set.

ped from the animals and the remnants discarded alongside the road. At least eight deer carcasses were estimated to be contained in the rubble. A lucky winter deer survivor was observed crossing the road just ahead of at the time of the discovery. Smock cited a number of other findings throughout Crawford & Kalkaska counties, indicating the work of illegal poachers operating in the area.

Another peril representing itself to the deer population, Smock indicated, are packs of dogs roaming about the woods, prepared to take advantage of stranded deer. 'It would really help us, especially now that the deer are moving." he said, for dog-owners to keep their animals confined or tied-up. He cited a recent incident which occurred along the AuSable Trail where four dogs were observed in pursuit of a deer struggling in deep snow. Responding to a call by an observer. DNR officials could only conclude that by all indicators found at the scene that the deer had been caught and killed by the pursuing canine pack. The combination of a tough Northern Michigan winter, poachers and packs of blood-thirsty dogs make things rough on the deer who are able to survive the hunting seasons. Recent thaws have gotten deer herds out, though, and they roam the woods in search of delicacies such as choke cherries, soft maple, aspen and sometimes even jackpine in their annual winter search for survival

Smock indicated that numerous deer-feeding activities have been conducted in the area by citizens interested in providing assistance during the winterlime needs of state wildlife.

A smaller deer population is cited by DNR officials as a factor contributing in a healthier deer population this year compared to last, despite this year's angry weather conditions.

Nonetheless, the winter has taken its toll on area wildlife, poachers illegally contributed to the problems of the otherwise beleaguered deer, and packs of roaming dogs are causing an even

Think Spring Plant a Tree

After a long, cold seemnever-ending winter, the time is here to think Spring! Spring, the time of year when everyone comes out of their warm enclosures to expose themselves to the long-awaited friend of all-

This reaction is not only common in humans, but also in the vegetative species which inhabit the cold north. Grasses begin to turn green, flowers being sprouting their leaves and buds begin forming on the trees. Trees form buds, huh, just think, from a small seed implanted in the soil a seedling sprouts which after years of growth forms a large tree.

Have you ever thought of the tree as being the largest living form on earth? Not even a whale would come close to being the size of a giant redwood of Northern California. What else on earth would come close to having the variety or amount of uses that come from

Not only are trees a very useful resource; but they are also a renewable resource. A resource that can be used and renewed even within a persons lifetime. Trees are a part of our everyday life. Not only are trees useful because they provide endless amounts of wood products, but for many other reasons. Trees provide shelter for wildlife, protective cover for eroding areas, beauty for landscaping, shelter from winds, etc.

If you are interested in planting trees for any reason, the Crawford Roscommon Conservation District has seedlings for sale again this spring. For further information, contact them at 409 Lake St., P.O. Box 156 Roscommon, Mi. 48653 or telephone 275-5231

So, It's -30- for another close friend...

"See you again, Sam!"

Following last week's endeavor we were settled back thinking it was another column taken care of, and we only had to think of what might come up before our deadline this week.

Not so, bright and early Friday morning (that's 9 o'clock our time) we received a phone call requesting an audience with the writer of it's our corner...

The request was to be able to discuss our inference that the school was a culprit, and did not buy socally...and at the time we thought possibly we had a smidgeon of pie on our face from what we wrote about the band department, quoting a former Grayling businessman.

The request was granted, and we were beseiged by Dr. William Diedrich, Superintendent of Schools, and Mr. Paul Lerg, Business Manager of the School

Between them, and the portfolio that accompanied them, we received a crash course on the disbursements of monies of the school district..

Dr. Diedrich pointed out the procedure of the school when it comes to bid letting, which is as :awollows)

The minutes will also contain the reasons for the acceptance of the successful bid and reasons for the rejection of the lowest bid. Purchases will be made locally when prices are competitive.

The Bible Speaks From Calvary Baptist Church

Who are the Baptist Pricets?

It may shock some of you to learn that Baptist do believe in a priesthood! This priesthood includes all true believers in Jesus Christ regardless of their religious affiliation. Baptist believe there is just one high priest above the believer priest: For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; Who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time." I Tim 2:5, 6. Jesus Christ alone has the title, "high priest over the house of God", Heb 10:21. Therefore, Baptist believe all true Christians may enter boldly into the very presence of God through the blood of Jesus, Heb

If you wish to study the scriptures teaching the fulfillment of the Old Testament orlesthood read Gen 14.17-24 Psa 110: 4: Heb 5:6, 10 and Heb 6:20 concerning Christ fulfilling the priesthood of Melchizedek. Read Exo 28:1-3, 29, 30; Lev 8:1-30; and Heb 7:11-9:28 to see how Christ fulfilled the priesthood of Aaron.

All born-again believers are made priests by the grace of God. Rev 1:6: 5:10 and 20:6. We are called an holy preisthood in Peter 2:5. "Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ." We are also called a royal priesthood in 1 Pet 2:9. "But ye are a royal priesthood

On behalf of the State Board of Education, I congratulate you and your teaching staff. Your students showed improved performance on the 1978-79 Michigan Educational Assessment Program test. Not only has the percentage of students attaining 75% or more of the objectives increased, the percentage attaining less than 24% has decreased.

Sometimes we tend to concentrate on the problems of the educational community. This letter is intended to acknowledge achievement and to reinforce student and teacher efforts which have -succeeded.

i ask you to accept our congratulations on the accomplishments of your students and indicate to the members of your staff and the citizens of your community that you have reason to be proud

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by the Crawford County Board of Commissioners at the County Building at 2:00 p.m. on April 10, 1979, to afford an opportunity for interested persons to be heard with respect to consideration of a request for financial assistance for Crawford County Public Transit [Dial-A-Ride], said financial assistance to be sought from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration, pursuant to the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended.

Crawford County Public Transit is a county-wide, five-day-per-week bus service operation. With only three buses and a very limited budget, and taking into consideration the area that must be covered, the steadily-increasing county population, and the increasing public demand for the service, it has been difficult to give the type of county-wide service needed. The additional funding being applied for will make possible the expansion of these services.

Crawford County Public Transit is for the use of all County residents, and takes into consideration, the special needs of the elderly and physically handicapped persons, one bus being equipped with a special lift for wheelchairs.

This project will displace no persons, families, or businesses; it will have no significant environmental impact upon the area; and it is now under review by the A-95 Cléaringhouse and 204 Review Agency.

A copy of the application for a Federal grant for this proposed project, together with an environmental analysis and the transit development plan for the area, is available for public inspection at the Crawford County Building.

In a unanimous decision, the court ruled that a trial judge can't close the a courtroom just because the defense and prosecution both agree to a secret trial.

At the least, the court decided, the trial judge must have a solid reason not simple because both sides want it that

Strike up a gain for citizens' rights. s an important ruling.

The case was an unsavory one at best, it involved a female teacher accused and ultimately acquitted of criminal sexual conduct involving a 10-year old male student. The trial was i្នែ Macomb County, Michigan.

The defense attorney, without offering a reason, asked that the public and press be excluded from the trial. The prosecutor had no objection, and the judge slammed the door.

The Detroit Free Press asked the Michigan Court of Appeals to overturn he ruling, but was rebuffed; the Appeals court claimed that when a defendant waives the right to a public trial, that right cannot be claimed by a third party-in this case, a newspaper.

Joined by the Michigan Press Association, the Macomb Dally and other news organizations, the Free Press then appealed to the Michigan Supreme Court, which reversed the lower courts.

"When a motion for closure is made. the judge should, at a minimum, take testimony at a hearing open to all interested parties, explore the constitu-cional and stautory validity of any perferred justifications for excluding the public and press from any portion of the trial, and determine whether any alternative and less restrictive mechanisms exist," the court said.

The Free Press, naturally, was pleased with the outcome, claiming the decision "Re-established an important safequard protecting the rights of the public and press to access to court proceedings," I agree.

The Free Press, would have preferred sustice Blair Moody's concurring opinion, which questioned any implication at all that the Michigan statute could ever provide for closing a trial-except in a case involving national security. The State law, as quoted by the Free ress. reads like this:

"The sittings of every court within this state shall be public except that a court may, for good cause shown, exclude from the courtroom other witnesses in the case when they are not testifying and may, in actions involving candal or immorality, exclude all minors from the courtroom unless the minor is a party or witness. This section shall not apply to cases involving national security

Then the Detroit newspaper concludes: "If judges insist that every roceeding be open in keeping with this statute, there should in fact be no more

closed court proceedings in Michigan. A court can always leave theoretical room for exceptions, but if the law is applied literally, it is hard to see what those exceptions could be." And once more, I agree.

In a concurring editorial opinion, Editor and Publisher magazine, which has wide distribution in the newspaper business nationally, called the Michigan decision "one that should be noted by the courts and news media in every state," and pointed out:

"Too many judges all over the country in recent years have made unilateral judgments affecting press and public in their courtrooms. They have assumed the right to make such decisions without hearing and without argument, usually at the request of the defense and over the protests of prosecution and press...

"Newsmen are sometimes accused of arrogance when they defy the order of a court which they believe to be illegal or unjustified. Jurists are just as arrogant, in our opinion, when they refuse to subject their judgements affecting press and public to examination and argument."

The Almanack is pleased to join in the general press praise for the Michigan decision. As judges frequently do, the controlling opinion left the door open a bit for future interpretation, although Justice Moody left little doubt how his future interpretations would proceed.

The benefit of open courtrooms, of course, is not primarily for the press, but rather for the public. Only with open courts can the citizenry know how the judicial system is operating-whether the public prosecutor is Solomon or a boob, whether the courts should be trusted or suspect

For a participant in the court process, secrecy might seem welcome-if you could choose secrecy as an option. But what of the logical eventuality of secrecy by someone else's choice. What then?

These are the issues in the continuing struggle the press generally wayes against secrecy, restraint, gags, and other restrictions on the public's right to know.

Perhaps the overriding problem for the press is to educate the public about the real winners and losers. Katherine Graham, publisher of the Washington Post, recently urged newspapers to "do more to illuminate what is really being jeopardized by curbing the press." She told a California newspaper meeting:

"Any citizen who has had any contact with jails can understand why those institutions should not be closed to press and public scrutiny.

"By the same token, most people recognize the hazards of closing off the court, especially when more and more public issues -- as well as criminal issues-are being settled there.

For the media, the job is one of education: without the people's support, the struggle is futile agrees with the opinion and will pursue Insurance Benefits with the County where the opinion stated it could be.

Bernard Fowler Airport Manager, and Matthew Bidvia, Chairman of the Airport Committee appeared before the Board to request an extension of the sale of fuel and supplies by the Road Commission to the Airport authority. After discussion it was agreed to continue sales until the fall of 1979.

Mr. Fowler and Mr. Bidvia were advised by the Board that this was a temporary agreement. Final determination of future policy with regard to the airport will be decided at a meeting with the Road Board and Airport authorities tenatively scheduled for August 1978, Roger Rehberg, Administrative Coordinator of N.E.M.E.D.A.

Appeared before the board to discuss possible funding by the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission of the improvement of Four Mile Rd. from the I-75 Expressway East approximately one mile and the construction of an access road to serve the Grayling Airport and the Kirtland Community College facility at the Airport. The Board informed Mr. Rehberg that since the airport access road is not a county road the Road Commission cannot participate in the funding of it's construction also it Right of Way cannot be obtained, any maintenance performed would be at the expense of the Airport Authority. Mr. Rehberg was asked to send a letter with his recommendations which will be discussed at a future date.

The Board broke for lunch and returned to the office and convened their meeting at 1:30 p.m. The Board discussed the bid date for the underbody blades, dump body, and Do-Al Snow Plow Hitch. It was determined that it would be April 6, 1979 at 10:00 a.m. A permit from Consumer Power Co. was presented to the Board for approval. The permit was for installing an overhead primary extension beginning at approximately 1900 ft N. of Kelly Avenue on Johnson Street to serve a new customer. The permit was approved and signed by the Board.

The position of the shop foreman was discussed and the job description is being prepared at this time. The Board instructed Mr. Fox to continue with the description and that it would be reviewed next meeting.

Gloria Kraus presented to the Board information on a possible conflict of interest situation. Mr. Dosson was called to appear next week to comment on the information given.

There being no further business Grover Cason made a motion to adjourn, seconded by Ervin Richter, all voted in favor, meeting

This letter is being written in regard to the present labor dispute between Top O'Michi-gan Rural Electric Company and the International Brott erhood of Flectrical Workers, Local 876, with hopes of getting it pub-lished and putting some light on the facts concerning it.

In response to General Mana-Roger Westenbroek's letter to Bill Huber, Legislative aide of United States Senator Robert Davis, I would like to make some comments

Management claims linemen and stakers have violated their contract by honoring their union brothers and sisters, picketline. This statement is obviously false. It is true that linemen and stakers have a clause in their contract where they can't strike during the term of their contract, but it is perfectly legal to honer the office worker's picket line, which they are doing.

Management claims most office workers jobs have been filled with permanent help. Have they?? Or, has management hired a lot of second class people that have bounced from job to job, and happened to be out of work when Top O'Michigan Rural Electric Company became strike-bound. How smoothly is the office running?

Management is running ne-gotiations!! When did they start? Last meeting at Gaylord, with the line personnel on February 12, management never spoke in over 5 hours of meeting. Mr. Mike Ward, the downstate attorney conducted the meeting 100 percent. At this meeting. Mr. Ward presented the linemen and stakers with a new contract instead of working with their existing one. The new contract contained 31 pages of legal garbage that would have set the linemen back 20 years had they accepted it.

It was not negotiations, as with negotiations both sides give and take until a mutual settlement is made that both sides can live with. Mr. Ward presented it and made it clear that management's position was not to make any changes in the proposed contract. In other words like it or cram it!!

John DeGear, Business Agent of Local 876 I.B.E.W. is a professional negotiator, so management claims! Mr. De-Gear is a journeyman lineman and climbed poles for a living until he was involved in an accident. True, he has been negotiating for about 10 years, but he never graduated from high school. As for his assist-ant. Robert Nelson, of Wolverine, he's a former lineman from Top O'Michigan R.E. Co., with no formal training either.

Management says employees walked away from their jobs October 19, 1978; yes, they did but I didn't notice it mentioned they had been involved in the office workers problems since January of 1978, and had 10 months to work out these nickel and dime problems. How long are these people supposed to attorney is definitely needed for most contracts so they are understood by both sides, and we probably need one here, but Ward certainly doesn't have the credentials for labor contracts. His record speaks for itself. Cloverland Electric Co-? & A Electric Co-op and Top O'Michigan Rural Electric Co-op. Strikes practically everywhere he has been. He also has strike presently going on in Is Mr. Ward working for management or is he working for Mr. Ward?? Has he ever put a contract together between 2 parties, or has he always been fired first? Who pays for the strikes? The customer-member through their light hill, who For the past 4 months there were employees who didn't receive a paycheck. Did the customer-members who their monthly bills? I doubt it.

As for a union take-over, what would the I.B.E.W. want with power? All Mr. wants is employer and employees to work out a contract that both sides can live with and run the company efficiently like it should be, to provide service which the customer-member own the Co-op get a rehate on certainly deserve. No employee ever expects to become rich working here, but wants steady employment and to be able to serve the 32,000 plus customers. A lot of people involved in this have many years of dedicated service to the members of Top O'Michigan, and are known and inought highly of as citizens in the Boyne City area.

I would like at this time to ask that concerned Top O'Michigan Company customer-members and other concerned citizens to watch the paper for the next public meeting and plan to attend. It would be great if the management and Board of Directors would consider being there so both sides would be represented, and both could express their views.

There are no problems in the world that can't be resolved if both sides would work on it instead of throwing mud.

Larry Piper A Picket-Honoring Lineman

Sweet Adelines Activities

Wednesday, March 14th, found the Mid-Mitten Chapter on stage at the Roscommon High School Auditorium going through the final weekly rehearsal before we for Grand Rapids. We thank Dorothy Summerix for scheduling the school practice so we could have access to the stage for this important rehearsal. The theme of this years Region # 2 "Boarder Lakes" convention is "Follow The Yellow Brick Road", with the Flint Chapter of Sweet Adelies acting as hostesses. On Saturday evening following all the competitions, this chapter will present their version of the Wizard of Oz called: "The Oz Goes Barbershop'

The Pantlind Hotel offers a tremendous site for conventions with all singing activities being held at the Civic Auditorium. Many of us attended an International Convention at the Pantlind many years ago, so are really looking forward to this weekends harmony festivities.

Cottage Cheese Cottage cheese can be used in a variety of ways. It works well as a salad, a main dish, in desserts or as a base for dips. One and one-third cups of cottage cheese provide the same amount of calcium as an eight ounce glass of milk. For a unique, tasty combo, mix cottage cheese with chopped radishes, green pepper and a pinch of onion

Was your son at the High
